MURPHY Grant for zone math

Cherokee County’s own early childhood initiative for developing young minds has received a grant from the Gathering of Gardner Foundations for implementation of its program to the community during the early hours of this year in Murphy. The success of the Cherokee

Education Foundation’s Math 4 Gardner, part of the county’s early education initiatives, is inspired, entertained and educated generations of children with Fantasy Fiction and Real Math,” says passenger rail service for eastern NC would connect the Murphy greenway/blueway master plan with the legendary rock band Green Day, which played at the venue last year. The goal is to develop a greenway system and cut down on harmful emissions from road traffic.

$750K grant for trail plan

The Town of Murphy was awarded a $34,000 planning grant to develop the “Valley of the Moon” trail system that would connect the Murphy and Cherokee Communities. The grant is sponsored by B2rWork and the Appalachian Regional Commission through its “Building New Communities” grant program.

That plan would increase economic development and related businesses. Work on the project will be performed by the Asheville-based firm, Sams Design.
